MRS. HARRY J. LEMLEY

Funeral services for Mrs. Harry J. Lemley, 84, who died Wednesday in Walter Reed Hospital in Washington, D.C., will be held at 2 p.m. Saturday at the family home at 406 West 16th Street. Burial will be in Rose Hill Cemetery by Herndon Funeral Home. The family requests no flowers.

She was the widow of Federal Judge Harry J. Lemley. She was born in Mt. Holly, Ark. in 1884, the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. K. G. M-Rae. The family moved to Hope in 1920 where she had lived since. She was an active member of the Presbyterian Church, working both in Sunday School and women's organizations from the time she moved to Hope as a child until she became ill a few months ago. She was also instrumental in organizing Girl Scouts in Hope and participated actively in Judge Lemley's hobbies of collecting Indian relics, stamps and information for his many articles pertaining to Confederate generals and the War Between the States.

She is survived by two sons, Lt. General Harry J. Lemley Jr., Deputy Chief of Staff, stationed at the Pentagon, Washington, D.C., Colonel Kenneth McRae Lemley, military attaché at the U.S. Embassy at Ottawa, Canada and a sister, Mrs. Kendall Lemley of Hope.

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (AP) — Cargill MacMillan, former president of Cargill, Inc., died Wednesday. He was 68. MacMillan was the grandson and founder of Cargill which grew from essentially a regional grain firm to a diversified corporation which included shipbuilding in its endeavors. MacMillan had been ill since suffering from a stroke in 1960.

CLARKSVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Mrs. James Miller, mother of Paul Miller, president of The Associated Press, died Wednesday. Her son also is president of Gannett Newspapers in Rochester, N.Y. She was the widow of the Rev. James Miller, a pioneer Christian Church minister in Oklahoma.

nominee's call for delay in ratification of the nuclear nonproliferation treaty.

The rally, in Detroit's John F. Kennedy Square, follows a tour by Humphrey through Ford's River Rouge auto assembly plant, for which his entourage included members of the World Champion Detroit Tigers baseball team.

Then, Humphrey's schedule includes three speeches—to a retired citizens luncheon, Michigan's labor leadership and the Detroit Economic Club, before a late evening departure for Hartford, Conn.

Democratic Groups Swap
Charges

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Jerry Matheny of Little Rock, president of Progressive Democrats of Arkansas, said Wednesday that Democratic gubernatorial candidate Marlon H. Crank is doing the "same thing he accused" Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller of doing.

"He has accused the governor of (prison) reform by phrase, rather than action," he said. "Crank is doing the same thing... He is talking, but not acting."

Matheny said it appeared that Rockefeller was running on the Democratic platform instead of Crank. He said Crank seemed to wait for Rockefeller to say or do something "that he can react to."

"The PDA feels that issues are more important than personalities, and has waited four weeks to hear Mr. Crank's solutions to the problems facing the state," Matheny said.

Matheny's statement brought a swift reply from Jim Atkins, coordinator of the Republicans for Marlon Crank organization. Atkins said Matheny's statement was "obviously prepared by John Ward, Rockefeller's campaign manager."

Atkins also said Matheny's organization is composed only of Matheny "and 12 high school boys."

Fastest Planes
In the 1930s, the largest and fastest airplanes in the world were seaplanes. Racing seaplanes held the absolute speed records from 1931 to 1939, according to the Encyclopaedia Britannica.

Humphrey supported ratification of the Greek-Turkish protocol to the North Atlantic Treaty, but Nixon did not vote. Nixon voted for ratification of the Japanese peace treaty, and Humphrey was recorded as favoring it in a "pair."

Both supported a Senate mandate for a 143-wing Air Force and both opposed an effort to cut Air Force research and development funds by $68 million in the service's funds.

But Nixon voted for and Humphrey against pigeonholing a military pay raise bill.

Nixon, who said in Chattanooga, Tenn., during the current campaign that he had always voted for TVA, was recorded as voting in the 1952 session to cut that agency's funds by $45.7 million, a move that Humphrey opposed. The Senate subsequently added $14.7 million to TVA's funds as previously approved by the House, with Nixon opposing and Humphrey supporting.

On other pending proposals, Humphrey supported and Nixon opposed adding $6.5 million to Bureau of Indian Affairs funds. Nixon voted to cut State Department salaries by 14.4 million and Humphrey voted against the cut. Nixon supported and Humphrey opposed a 10 per

Crank Cites Failures of Rockefeller

PENE BLUFF, Ark. (AP) — Marlon H. Crank, the Democratic gubernatorial nominee, today continued his criticism of Republican Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller, touching on several points of his administration.

Crank, referring to Rockefeller often not being in his Capitol office, said the governor went around the state to see people whether or not the people had any desire to see him.

The remarks were made at a democratic breakfast here where Crank was introduced by Dr. Boyce Alford, who told the 225 persons, "It's time to hoist the shirttail and get down to the naked truth about this Rockefeller administration."

Crank said Rockefeller had failed in highway construction pointing out that the legislature had passed a highway construction bill during the last regular session and the governor vetoed it.

He also said the governor had failed to allow enough money for education and cut Arkansas AMU's budget some $600,000 in the last two years. Crank also said the governor had failed to cut in rivers and harbors funds.

pear to object to Johnson accepting whatever North Vietnamese "assurance he might get." They are insisting on "guarantees" that North Vietnam will not escalate the war.

An end to the bombing has been the essential North Vietnamese condition for moving the Paris peace talks into a new, second phase in which specific issues involved in ending the war would be negotiated.

The United States has committed itself to include the South Vietnamese government in the phase and North Vietnam says the South Vietnamese National Liberation Front must be a participant.

Resolution of this problem by including both would be a measure of North Vietnam's seriousness in the view of U.S. officials.

Another concern is restoring the zone dividing North and South Vietnam as a demilitarized buffer. The United States frequently has demanded this in the Paris talks as an important step in de-escalating the war.

Various other steps, such as ending infiltration through Laos and Cambodia also have been demanded by the United States.

Air strikes, restricted to North Vietnam's southern panhandle since March 31, are continuing meanwhile and more are planned for today. At the same time Pentagon figures show that bad weather has reduced sorties over the North by 30 per cent since midsummer.

The weather could be expected to drop the level even further in the next six months, a factor that likely would be considered in weighing the risks of a full halt.

Johnson flew to New York Wednesday to appear with the Democratic and Republican presidential candidates at the annual nonpolitical Alfred E. Smith memorial dinner.

The White House announced before he left that he would make "no pronouncements."

In Paris, U.S. and North Vietnamese peace negotiations met for the 26th time, and the American spokesman said afterward there had been movement but "I cannot characterize it as progress."

Initially U.S. spokesmen refused either to confirm or deny Wednesday the possibility of a break. But in midmorning the White House issued a statement that U.S. policy was unchanged and there had been "no breakthrough" on the bombing issue.

Johnson then called up the three major presidential candidates—Richard M. Nixon in Kansas City, Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey in St. Louis, and George C. Wallace in Los Angeles—and told them he was announcing: "The position of the United States with respect to Vietnam remains as set forth by the President and the secretary of state. 'There has been no basic change in the situation: no breakthrough.'"

Democrat Humphrey said soon afterward in a speech to suburban St. Louis housewives that the matter at the moment was "very sensitive," and added, "for me at this stage to say anything further would add only to the confusion which you already have."

According to the best information available in Washington the diplomatic discussions have covered not only the U.S. request for some kind of assurances on what the Communists will do if the bombing is stopped, but also arrangements for moving the Paris peace talks forward into a second phase in which issues of settling the war would be negotiated.

New Method Is Restoring Eyesight

By ALTON BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Science Writer
ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP)

A few dozen people blind for years now are seeing again through a new method of restoring the windows of the eyes, a specialist reported today.

One man passed his driver's license test a few weeks ago, said Dr. Louis J. Girard, of Baylor University College of Medicine in Houston, Tex.

A woman, blind for 48 years—since childhood—now is able to see the children she reared, he added.

The operation putting an artificial cornea or "window" into the eye might help 10 to 15 per cent of the millions of blind people throughout the world, Girard said.

It applies only to those whose own corneas have been damaged by chemical burns or other injuries or certain diseases, or who have congenital defects affecting the cornea, he said in a report for the American College of Surgeons.

He predicted that most ophthalmologists or eye specialists should be able to perform the operation, which takes up to 1½ hours.

Girard said he has placed artificial corneas into the eyes of 60 persons in the last 3½ years, and at least half are able to see.

"The results are the most gratifying I have had in my career as an ophthalmologist," Girard said in explaining the technique at a news conference.

The surgery uses a tiny shaft of clear plastic which acts as a thick lens. It has skirts or projections of mesh which hold it in said, "I think it's something in the American environment, the way we live. If it is, it should be possible to find out what it is."

"We have at least a fighting chance of finding it."

For coronary heart disease below the age of 60, he continued in his paper, cigarette smoking seems to be the most place through the cornea.

The persons' own eye tissue can adhere to the mesh to keep it firmly placed. To achieve this, the mesh is covered with human eye tissue, sclera and conjunctiva, taken from the other blinded eye or from donated human eyes, he said.

Girard is professor and chairman of the department of ophthalmology at Baylor University and director of the Eye Institute at Texas Medical Center.

important factor, with obesity next. Over 60, lack of exercise seems to be most important.

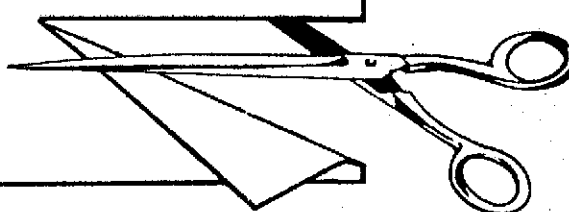

The pattern for stroke is similar, although not identical, he said, adding: "Long hours of sleep seem to be more important in relation to stroke than in relation to coronary heart disease."

The Cancer Society began its epidemiological study in 1959-1960, when more than a million persons were enrolled. The total was reduced for the study to nearly 800,000 men and women between 40 and 79 in 1959, and free of disease.

The study also found higher death rates from aortic aneurysm in men 50 to 69 who slept 8 or 9 hours a night, compared to men who slept 7 hours a night.

First planet to be discovered in modern times was Uranus, discovered by Sir William Herschel in 1781.

Fairview Favored Over Hope

By RALPH ROUNTON
Star Sports Writer

Tomorrow evening brings together two 4-AA Western Division schools at Hammons Stadium in a crucial game for both, and the Fairview Cardinals are clear-cut favorites against our Hope Bobcats.

Unbeaten and unchallenged all year, Fairview just might not know exactly how good they really are, but they probably have some far-fetched ideas. It is these feelings that give the Bobcats their strategy for the possible upset, the strategy simply being psychology.

Coach Ronnie Higgins and the Bobcats have thoroughly convinced themselves that Fairview is beatable, and haven't stopped at that. Hope has had its best practices this week, with nothing new or special being concocted as a secret weapon. However, beating Fairview is much easier said than done.

Returning most of the studs off last year's 11-1 squad, Coach George Branch has said all along that his team should go all the way this time. He has a fantastically fast and powerful backfield, with a big line to match, and the Cardinals will be about the same size as the Bobcats.

Replacing All-Stater Bubba Wrentz at quarterback was no easy job, and Branch's new man is not as much of a team leader as just a man running a monster of a team. The signal-caller is slight Lewis Pryor, a junior scaling barely 140 pounds. Pryor is not a tough runner, and his passing is not exactly drawing raves from opposing teams.

Backing up Pryor is one of the toughest sets of blockers in Arkansas, and at least one of the three should make All-State. The most likely to succeed is fullback Jimmy Harris, a blue-chip junior at 180 pounds. Against Hope last year Harris started in place of the injured Sandy Nutt, and gained over 100 yards on the ground while punching over a couple of touchdowns.

Harris has been called the best running back in 4-AA and South Arkansas, but he is also outstanding on defense. Beside him at tailback is junior Perry Johnson, a 160-pounder who hits with authority. Johnson doesn't run as much in the Fairview slot offense as Jerry McWilliams does in Hope's but he is an effective pass receiver. The biggest broken-field threat is slotback Stephen Johnson, a 160-pound senior with 10.3 speed in the 100. Stephen also runs back punts and kickoffs, as well as run shorter pass routes and tricky reverses.

Halfway through the season, though, Fairview has not shown anything fancy, employing a pass attack sparingly with Harris bowling up the middle the rest of the time. Their line, big and quick, is what allows them to really blow a team off the field. At week's end is 6'5" Mike Green, a skinny 180-pound junior but a fine receiver. Alongside him at week's end tackle is Dale Wheelington, a junior 190-pounder who played a good bit last year. At week's end guard is Johnny Hankins, a mere soph scaling 195 pounds.

Snapping the ball is another junior, this one named Johnny Watson, a hard-hitting 160-pounder. William Russell starts the strong-side at guard with his 170-pound frame, and he teams well with tackle Lewis Bell, a 180-pound senior.

On defense the Cards run the same monster setup that Hope runs, though they aren't known to blitz as much as Hope. Some of the bulwarks of the defensive crew are experienced, and some are getting that way.

Leading the charging line will be tackles Perry Morgan and Dicky Jeffus, a pair of seniors notching close to 200 pounds. Morgan is respected more for his speed through into the backfield, but a good lineman like Hope's Carroll Beck should give him problems. Jeffus started on offense last year and can move in at guard in case of any serious emergency.

Bush and senior Mike Starnes play the defensive ends, and both are tall and are effective on pass coverage. The linebackers are Harris and Kenny Patterson, a junior 175-pounder, but only Harris has a great deal of experience.

Playing at monster man is junior Richard Sanders, who gained up to 160 pounds in the off-season program. A good basketball player, Sanders is alert and a good defender overall. In the secondary are some established performers, though not as good as some defensive secondaries we have faced.

Stephen Johnson lines up at left half, and he is flanked by junior Johnny Kelly, a small 150-pounder. Back at safety is Paul Key, a 160-pound senior who did well against Hope last year by intercepting a pass and returning it nearly for a touchdown.

So that is Fairview, a team whose first 20 could match just about anybody. Those 20 will play most of the game, too, and are able to play the entire contest if they have to. There is a possible lack of depth behind the more-seasoned performers, but they aren't likely to be hurt anyway.

Give or take a few breaks, and our Bobcats could show'em all that they can do anything if they want it bad enough. It seems like Hope really and truly wants this one, and won't allow for a sluggish start. Homecoming will take care of that.

Tonight marks the return to action of the Hope Bobkittens, who haven't played a game since October 3rd. This evening they match up with the cocky Nashville Scrappers, who beat us 6-0 last year. There were some weird unknowns about that one in a few questionable calls, though, and most of those Bobkittens return for a chance at revenge.

The game starts at 7:30 p.m. at Hammons Stadium, and the Junior High Homecoming ceremonies will be held immediately before the kickoff. Queen is Sandy Flowers, and she will be honored along with her royalty of six maids.

Wyoming's Kicker Is Leading Field

NEW YORK (AP) — Sophomore Bob Jacobs, Wyoming's talented kicker, is the successor to Jerry DePoyster, who scored more points by kicking than any other player in college football history before graduating last year.

Jacobs is off to a rousing start in an effort to outdo his predecessor. He has 36 kick points in his first five varsity games, according to figures released today by the National College Sports Service. That is eight points more than DePoyster had at the same stage enroute to his record 182 total.

John Riley of Auburn is second with 29—one more than Kenneth Crots of Toledo. Jerry Leivas of Southern Methodist maintained his pass receiving lead with 38 in four games for 568 yards and four touchdowns. Sammy Milner of Mississippi State moved into second place with 32 catches for 411 yards.

Bobby Hall of North Carolina State leads in kickoff returns with 15 for 340 yards, while Jeff Allen of Iowa State has 11 for 336 yards. Larry Alford is the top punt returner with 13 for 274 yards.

Olympics Marred by Race Issue

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Sports Writer
MEXICO CITY (AP) — Black, not gold, became the dominant color of these troubled 19th Olympic Games today.

As America's powerful forces moved steadily ahead in their quest of gold medals, and the cache should increase substantially with the start of swimming, the dark cloud of racial unrest overshadowed the record-breaking performances of the U.S. athletes.

Tommie Smith and John Carlos raised high the black-gloved fist of racial protest Wednesday while still on the podium after receiving their medals for a 1-3 finish in the 200-meter dash.

"White America would not understand" the gesture, Carlos, of San Jose, Calif., said later. "They recognize me only when I do something bad and they call me 'Negro.'"

They accepted their medal from Lord Burghley of England. Both had said they would not accept a medal from International Olympic Committee President Avery Brundage, who was in Acapulco watching the Olympic sailing.

During the press conference Carlos turned to his wife and handed her the medal. "This is yours," he said. "I do not want it."

He then said he would not attend another Olympics unless he paid his own way there, a broad hint of a boycott of the 1972 Games in Munich, Germany.

Smith, who won in 19.8, better than the listed world mark, listened intently, nodding from time to time. Carlos has a pending mark of 19.7, but it may not be allowed because of the brush-type shoe he wore in the race.

Peter Norman of Australia was second, just edging Carlos. It was only one of a flock of world marks to fall. Bob Seagren of Los Angeles picked up America's only other gold medal of the day with 17-8 1/2 inches, better than the listed record of 17-7 1/4. Seagren, however, has a pending mark of 17-9.

George Young, Casa Grande, Calif., won the other U.S. medal Wednesday, a bronze for third in the 5,000-meter steeplechase. Amos Biwott of Kenya won it in 8:30.8 and his teammate, Benjamin Kogo, was second in 8:51.6. Young was timed in 8:51.6.

That gave the United States a total of 12 medals, six of them gold. But Russia, the other giant of the Games, closed up a bit, winning two events and pushing its total medal collection eight, three of them gold.

Russia's two victories came from Yanis Lusis in the javelin with a throw of 295-2 1/2, an Olympic record, and from Victor Kurentsov in middleweight weightlifting with a total hoist of 1,046 1/2 pounds, an Olympic record. He also set a world record with a clean and jerk of 312 1/2 pounds.

The United States was blanked in both, through Russell Knipp, Chicago, was fourth in weightlifting, just 5 1/4 pounds short of the bronze.

In the other finals, petite Collette Besson of France won the women's 400 meters in 52 seconds flat, Ingrid Becker of West Germany took the women's pentathlon with a total of 5,098 points and Ian Drimba of Romania won the men's fencing foil final with a 4-1 record.

Seagren's victory in the pole vault was packed with drama, and a heart-breaker for teammate John Pennel.

Seagren, Claus Schiprowski of West Germany and Wolfgang Nordwig of East Germany all cleared 17-8 1/2. Then all three missed at 17-10 1/2. Seagren won on fewer misses. Seagren and Schiprowski each had one miss at 17-8 1/2, and Nordwig had two. However, at 17-6 3/4, Schiprowski had one miss and Seagren passed the attempt, counting as a victory.

"I felt confident the way everyone was jumping we would go to the higher height so I didn't think I was taking any risk," he said.

Pennel also cleared at 17-8 1/2 but his pole went under the bar and he was declared out, finishing fifth in the 7 1/2 hour competition.

The U.S. unbeaten basketball team turned back previously unbeaten and highly regarded Yugoslavia 73-58 while Russia remained unbeaten with an 81-56 romp over Bulgaria.

Only two swimming finals are scheduled today, the women's 400 meter medley relay, and the men's 400-meter freestyle. The Americans are favored in both and are expected to set world marks.

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Little Rock Hall and Hot Springs, the only unbeaten, untied teams in Class AAAA or AAA, risk their perfect records Friday night against erratic, but dangerous opponents.

Top-ranked Hall plays at Pine Bluff. The Zebras have had their moments, including a 3-3 tie with Fort Smith Northside when the Grizzlies were ranked No. 1. Pine Bluff, however, had to struggle to score victories over lesser opponents such as Jonesboro and Dollarway.

The Warriors, on the other hand, had had things pretty much their way until last week when they had to work for a 14-7 victory over Horace Mann. Prior to that game Hall had scored 98 points and given up six.

Hall is 2-0 in conference play. Pine Bluff is still unbeaten in the conference, but has two ties and needs this one.

HALL 14, PINE BLUFF 7
Third-ranked Hot Springs, the surprise of the season, has blanked five of its six opponents. The Torjans, however, cannot afford to look past El Dorado, which rarely up and tied Pine Bluff last week.

Tommy Brasher has kept the Trojans playing them one at a time so far and doesn't figure to stop now.
HOT SPRINGS 13, EL DORADO 7.

Little Rock Central plays at North Little Rock in the only game that matches two members of the top ten. Central is ranked tenth, North Little Rock fourth. Both have one loss in Class AAAA and both need to win to stay alive.

Black Protest Brings Mixed Reaction

By WILL GRIMSLEY
Associated Press Sports Writer
MEXICO CITY (AP) — The reaction around Olympic Village ranged from "good show" to "send 'em home" today to the black-fist demonstration by U.S. sprinters Tommie Smith and John Carlos at the normally sacrosanct medal ceremonies.

"I think it's a shame and disgrace," said Bill Toomey, America's decathlon champion from Laguna, Calif. "There is no place for personal spleen or politics in the Olympic Games."

"We all thought it was a bloody good show," commented John Welton, Great Britain's 1,500-meter hope, with a nod of agreement from teammates Andrew Todd and John Davis. "It's bully that these blokes had nerve enough to express their feelings." All three are white.

While the buzzing Village debated the propriety of the U.S. Negroes' deportment on the Olympic victory stand Wednesday, people wondered what the black athletes might have—if anything—for an encore.

And another popular query: "What is Avery Brundage going to say?"

Brundage, controversial 81-year-old president of the International Olympic Committee, spent a pleasant day at Acapulco, where the yachts were sailing peacefully, and was not available immediately for comment.

Absence of the Chicago hotel owner prevented an immediate confrontation with two of the American militant blacks who have insisted they don't want to receive medals from Brundage's hands.

Also there was speculation among some connected with the U.S. delegation that there might be disciplinary action. The best bet is there will be none. Such a move would wreck the American team.

Smith, world record holder in the 200 meters, won the race in 19.8 seconds, setting a new mark. His teammate, Carlos from San Jose, Calif., a militant spokesman in the Negro athletes' civil rights movement, finished third behind Peter Norman of Australia.

Smith had a black scarf around his neck. Carlos wore beads. Both held a single shoe, symbolizing another protest against a ban on a certain manufacturer's product.

Mel Farr Had Best Day of His Career

NEW YORK (AP) — In Mel Farr's own book, the day he had against the Chicago Bears Sunday was the best in his brief pro football career.

Farr carried the ball 17 times for 138 yards, caught six passes for 72 yards and scored three touchdowns in the 28-10 victory of the Detroit Lions.

Big Field Entered in Vegas Meet

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — Four of golf's current top money winners, headed by defending champion Jack Nicklaus, were set to tee off today in the first round of the $100,000 Sahara Invitational Tournament.

With the $22,222 36-hole pro-amateur sideshow completed, and Kenny Still of Tacoma, Wash., the individual winner, a bulky field of 159 players was entered in the main tournament.

Young Steve Spray of Cedar Rapids, Iowa, who lost by two strokes to Nicklaus last year, is back for another crack at the $20,000 purse.

The leading PGA money winners here start with Billy Casper, Nicklaus and Nos. 4 and 5 — Julius Boros and George Archer. The No. 3 man, Tom Weiskopf did not enter, nor did Arnold Palmer, No. 6.

Victory Wednesday as the low individual scorer netted Still $1,338. He put together rounds of 71-66 — 137.

achievement. That game last year was a waste. Sure, I gained a lot of yards (197 against Minnesota in 1967) but I didn't score and we didn't win."

Farr's performance earned him The Associated Press honors as the offensive player of the week in the National Football League.

Bill Munson hit Farr with a 33-yard scoring pass for one touchdown and the former UCLA star ran over from the nine and one.

As a result of the day's action, Farr ranked 10th in the rushing race with 345 yards on 75 carries, trailing only Gale Sayers of the Bears and Leroy Kelly of Cleveland. Farr's seven touchdowns (three running and four receiving) made him fourth in scoring with 42 points.

Arkansas, Texas Series Thrilling

By HARRY KING
Associated Press Writer
LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Arkansas vs. Texas. For the past nine years, it has been a rollicking series filled with heart-stopping plays.

And Saturday's meeting at Austin, Tex., should be no exception.

Three times the margin of victory has been one point. On four other occasions the spread has been five points or less.

Texas scored in the final five minutes last year to record a 21-12 decision and put everything together at Fayetteville in 1961, scoring a 33-7 victory.

Otherwise, it's been a series where the two teams just lined up and went at it, a series chocked full of heroes and dramatics. A series with more emphasis on fundamentals than flimse.

This year, as is the rule, the meeting will have an important bearing on the Southwest Conference race. Texas, a favorite in the SWC race, lost its first conference game to Texas Tech. The ninth-ranked Razorbacks are 2-0 in conference play.

The competition between Texas' Darrell Royal and Arkansas' Frank Broyles, whether on a football field or on the golf course, is intense and adds a personal touch to the series. Only Texas holds a series edge over Arkansas since Broyles took over at Arkansas in 1958.

Here's why the series has become one of a kind:

1959—Texas 13, Arkansas 12. Both teams were unbeaten. Arkansas scrambled 89 yards in 19 plays to take a 12-7 lead, but Texas recovered a Lance Al-

Earl "The Pearl" Monroe, last season's Rookie of the Year, scored 28 points—seven in a two-minute stretch—as the Baltimore Bullets built up a 109-100 lead en route to a 124-116 victory over Detroit in a National Basketball Association opener Wednesday night.

And in Westley Unseld, the Bullets might have found a badly needed center. The rookie from Louisville, the Bullets' top draft choice, grabbed 22 rebounds and contributed eight points.

In other action, Cincinnati topped Atlanta 125-110 and Chicago downed the new Milwaukee Bucks 89-84.

Cus Johnson and Bob Ferry also played important roles in Baltimore's victory. Johnson scored 20 of his 29 points in the first half, and Ferry came off the bench to score 13 in the second half. As usual, Dave Bing was the key man for Detroit, scoring 39 points and getting eight assists.

Cincinnati's Oscar Robertson was held to four points in the first half, but the Big O broke loose for 16 in the third quarter to break open a close game and lead the Royals to victory. Robertson and Connie Dierking led the Royals with 24 points. Lou Hudson topped Atlanta with 23.

The leading PGA money winners here start with Billy Casper, Nicklaus and Nos. 4 and 5 — Julius Boros and George Archer. The No. 3 man, Tom Weiskopf did not enter, nor did Arnold Palmer, No. 6.

A-State Still Ranked in No. 10 Spot

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
San Diego State, The Associated Press' No. 1 small college team, is looking ahead to Los Angeles—and, at the same time, keeping an eye on Grand Forks, N.D.

The Aztecs, 4-0, who topped the weekly poll Wednesday in balloting by a regional panel of 15 sports writers and broadcasters, play against Los Angeles State Saturday. North Dakota State, a close second in the poll, will be going to Grand Forks to play North Dakota.

San Diego State corralled 10 of the first-place votes and 278 points over-all in the weekly poll. North Dakota State built its 224 points mostly on second-place votes.

The Bison gained ground on the Aztecs after drubbing Augustana of South Dakota 70-18 Saturday. San Diego defeated Texas Southern 42-23. Eastern Kentucky remained third with 209 points after blasting Middle Tennessee 49-21.

Rounding out the Top Ten are Western Kentucky, which leaped from 10th to fourth; Texas A&I, New Mexico Highlands, Weber State, Northern Michigan, Chattanooga, and Arkansas State.

Morgan State tumbled from ninth to 11th although a 19-18 victory over Maryland State, and Lenoir Rhyne, the No. 8-ranked team last week, skidded all the way to 20th place after losing to Appalachian 41-28.

State Back Is Player of Week

BEAUMONT, Tex. (AP) — BILL Bergey, a linebacker for Arkansas State University, Wednesday was named the Southland Conference defensive player of the week.

Bergey made 18 tackles and intercepted a pass in ASU's 17-7 victory over Southeastern Louisiana.

Bergey, who twice earned player of the week honors as a junior, is a 6-foot-2, 230-pounder. The offensive player of the week award went to fullback Danny Griffin of the University of Texas at Arlington.

Political Race in Florida Free-swinging

By DENNIS FRIEL
Associated Press Writer
MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Florida's free-swinging fight over the U.S. Senate is one of the hottest races in the South this year and for the first time in this century the Republican candidate is favored.

GOP Rep. Edward Gurney is given a slight edge over former Gov. LeRoy Collins in a campaign in which Vietnam has been the main issue but much of the speech time has been devoted to the candidates' past political bedfellows.

Gurney has toured the Florida peninsula trying at every turn to the Collins tightly to the Johnson-Humphrey administration. And Collins has attempted to shackle Gurney to Florida's flamboyant GOP Gov. Claude Kirk, whose popularity dipped after an aborted drive for second spot on the Republican national ticket.

There is widespread animosity in Florida against the Johnson administration, Gurney says, and it will hurt his opponent because "Collins was a key member of the chain during his time in Washington and he supported LBJ all the way."

Collins resigned as president of the National Association of Broadcasters in 1964 to become the first head of the Community Relations Service. The next year, Johnson named Collins undersecretary of commerce.

The silver-haired former governor has replied that he served wherever he was asked, but that he remains his own man. And usually he counters with a charge that Gurney "is in the same political bed" with Kirk, who has been called the "Go-Go governor."

Collins has pointed out that his Republican foe's Winter Park law office handles business for the State Turnpike Authority and says, "I have been telling people that Gurney and Kirk were working intimately together, and what stronger ties are there than money?"

The candidates, both attractive and veteran vote getters, are vying for the seat vacated by retiring Democratic Sen. George A. Smathers.

Death Penalty Moratorium Continues

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — A spokesman for Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller said Wednesday the governor has extended a moratorium on executions until the U.S. Supreme Court settles all the constitutional attacks on the death penalty.

Bob Scott, the governor's aide for prison affairs, said Rockefeller would not set execution dates until all the constitutional issues pending have been decided.

Scott's comments were in reply to a letter from Rafael Guzman of the University of Arkansas Law School, who is director of the Arkansas Prison Project.

Guzman had requested that the governor extend his moratorium until the project is completed and until the court issues are settled. Rockefeller had said in April that he would not set execution dates for any of the men on death row at Tucker Prison Farm until the high court has ruled on a case attacking the death penalty.

Ten men are on death row at Tucker. Only four are directly affected by the governor's position because the others have some avenue of appeal remaining. Guzman, in a 19-page brief, explained five separate constitutional attacks on the death penalty, four of which are pending before the U.S. Supreme Court.

In one opinion this year, the high court held that persons with scruples against the death penalty may not be excluded from a jury in capital cases. This prompted several prosecutors in the state to say they felt this would mean an end to death penalties. The Arkansas Prison Project is financed by the Ford Foundation. Its staff is reviewing the cases of the men on death row at Tucker.

Life In Arkansas

By TOMMY YATES
Associated Press Writer
Eric Allen of Fort Smith says it was a surprise to him that a novel he wrote inspired a song to be written.

Allen, a member of the Southwest American-Times Record staff, wrote a novel about the Arkansas Ozarks. It was published last summer in the United States and Canada and recently was resold for publication in Sweden.

Allen received a record album in the mail late last month, featuring the song that was inspired by his novel, "Voices In The Wind."

"All a fellow can say about a thing like this—or all he can feel, really—is a sense of gratitude and humbleness," Allen said.

The album was released by DE Luxe Music Co. and the song was composed by Eugene DeLuca, a noted musical authority of Pennsylvania. Frank McDade is the vocalist on "Voices In The Wind."

"Mr. DeLuca has captured the essence of the great mountains, the hills and the valleys as they are today in this masterpiece of musical composition," Allen said. "But it's more of a love song than anything else."

If there were a food shortage in Arkansas, it wouldn't be because of the efforts of Joe Montgomery of Malvern and J. E. Waddle of Yonila.

Montgomery said his wife planted three okra seeds this summer. After they had time to grow, Montgomery exhibited

Old Warehouse New Symbol

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — An old candy-tobacco warehouse in a predominantly Negro neighborhood is a symbol of new hope and a better life for thousands of mentally retarded.

The Philadelphia Association for Retarded Children obtained $185,000 to renovate its two-story work training center. Most of it came from federal grants.

It will provide schooling, diagnostic services, job training and placement for 400 persons, perhaps handling several times that number every year.

"Like the measles, we want this institution to spread," said Marvin Schwartz, chairman of PARC's training committee.

The center, started more than three years ago, hopes to do more than $200,000 a year business in packaging such items as party goods, catalogs and drug samples.

"Our trainees... are paid on apiece basis, according to their ability to produce," Schwartz said. Wages average from $10 to $90 weekly. And 15 former center trainees now are earning more than $100 every week as mail handlers in the post office.

A pod of okra for photographers just so seeing would be believing. The pod measured 38 1/2 inches long and weighed four pounds.

Waddle said he planted a sweet potato about three months ago at his home. It grew to be 18 inches long.

Storage batteries take more than one-fourth of all lead smelted in the United States.

Recovery of Welfare Money Asked

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — State Welfare Director Len E. Blaylock has requested Atty. Gen. Joe Purcell to try to recover more than $3,000 Blaylock says was paid to a former welfare commissioner's nephew.

Blaylock said $3,193.85 was paid to John Keach in 1966-67 while his uncle, A. J. "Red" Moss, was Welfare commissioner.

The federal government demanded last spring that the state reimburse it for its half of the funds paid to Keach while he was on the department's payroll as a welfare visitor.

44th Birthday of B&PW Club Observed Here

Margaret Alexander discusses the status of women to B&PW.

The 44th birthday of the National Business and Professional Women's Clubs was observed by the Hope B&PW members on Thursday, October 10 with a dinner meeting at the Diamond. Mrs. Margaret Alexander of Little Rock, District Extension Home Economist, was a special guest and brought a timely message on the "Status of Women" for the program.

The speaker introduced by program chairman Dolores McBride, presented pertinent information regarding the status of women, nationally and internationally. A home management specialist, Mrs. Alexander emphasized the good management of time, energy, and money.

A simulated birthday cake surrounded by beautifully wrapped gifts decorated the speaker's table. Hostesses also were Charlotte Gibson, Velma Goss, and Norma Jean Delaney. Club members opened the "gifts" and found a letter of the alphabet in each. Properly arranged, they spelled Opportunity, which is symbolic of the advancement of women in the B&PW.

Club President Margie Vickers presided over the business session and welcomed one new member, Donna Smith, and three guests, Mrs. Grace Roberts of Raymondville, Tex., Mrs. Sam Strong, and Mrs. Tom Epting of Claud, Tex. Dinner was served to 37 at tables marked with golden ribbon runners and signs reading Happy Birthday.

Television and Radio

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — If there is one thing wrong with CBS's "Jonathan Winters Show," it is that the star is badly cast. The inventive, outrageous funnyman is a better guest than host.

Nothing seemed to have happened to the variety hour's format except that another distinctive comedian has been added to the program's regulars—Cliff Arquette—and he, too, isn't given much of a chance to do his thing.

The Wednesday night hour had its compensations, however. Ella Fitzgerald sang several numbers, a treat, and Douglas Fairbanks, Jr. took on the haunting number "Camelot," which was written for actors, not singers.

Winters spent most of his time in sketches—a short-tempered husband explaining football to his wife; an annoying little kid on an airplane, and an unfunny spoof of the old Jack Armstrong series. Except for an occasional mischievous Winters touch, they all seemed to be the products of some tired script writer. And somehow Winters in his earnest, glowing introductions of guests, seemed out of character.

The supply of Los Angeles-type jokes apparently is running thin because for the second year in a row, CBS's "Beverly Hillsbillies" are in the midst of a number of programs shot mostly in England.

Wednesday night's situation would have been hard to set up in Beverly Hills. Jed and Granny see a drunken Scotsman in kilts and playing a bagpipe and believe it is a large hairy girl drinking from a bag. This, of course, results in plenty of confusion but, alas, not too much entertainment.

However, the series has started its seventh season and has never slipped down far in the popularity ratings. So millions of viewers must find the impenetrable ignorance of the Clampett family a weekly tonic.

Some Soviet Troops Will Withdraw

By GENE KRAMER
Associated Press Writer
PRAGUE (AP) — Soviet Premier Alexei N. Kosygin said Wednesday night most of the occupation troops in Czechoslovakia will withdraw soon, but he did not indicate how many will stay.

Kosygin said the withdrawal will include troops of Poland, Hungary, East Germany and Bulgaria, the four East bloc nations that joined in the Soviet invasion of Czechoslovakia Aug. 20 to reverse the country's liberalization drive.

Kosygin spoke at the signing of a treaty with Premier Oldrich Cernik legalizing the Soviet occupation. His speech was reported by the Soviet news agency Tass.

Anticipating further criticism of the Soviet Union because of the treaty, Kosygin urged Communist unity to combat this.

"The enemies of socialism will fume and rage," he said. "They will try to distort the meaning of our treaty and to aggravate international tension. The enemies of Czechoslovak-Soviet friendship want nothing more than to erect a wall of alienation and sow distrust between our peoples."

"We must oppose this by our unity, which is stronger because it is engendered by the community of our class interests and our goals of building socialism and communism."

He predicted that the treaty program to the end of the year. The program, based on the late evening talk-show format, has received good critical notices but low ratings. Reports persist that the show will be moved into a prime-time evening hour if and when a replacement program is needed — usually around the first of the year.

Recommended tonight: "Fabulous Shorts," NBC, 7:30 - 8:30 EDT, anthology of outstanding cartoons, including the first appearance of Mickey Mouse in 1928; "Soul," NBC, 8:30-9:30, special starring Negro performers including singer Lou Rawls and comics George Kirby and Nipsey Russell, a variety show made as a demonstration for a future weekly series.

"will meet with the broadest support and approval of the peoples of the U.S.S.R. and Czechoslovakia, other Socialist nations and all the forces which prize the cause of peace and socialism."

Cernik said the treaty "strengthened relations of close cooperation and friendship between the Czechoslovak nation and the nations of all countries of the Socialist community," the Czechoslovak news agency CTK reported.

But Kosygin received a chilly reception at Prague's airport on his arrival from Moscow, reflecting local distaste for the treaty. As required by protocol, Cernik and Cabinet officials were on hand, but there was no official greeter from the nation's Communist party and the honor guard omitted the usual salutation: "Success, comrade premier."

Prague sources said the Czechoslovaks are dissatisfied with Russian demands for the right of Soviet military courts to try occupation soldiers charged with law violations; Soviet-proposed financial arrangements for the cost of basing troops here, and the vagueness of the agreement which lets the Russians decide how long occupation troops will remain.

Monkey Trial Laugh-in for High Court

WASHINGTON (AP) — The U.S. Supreme Court held a humorous 30-minute hearing Wednesday on Arkansas' law that prevents public schools to teach the theory of evolution.

Arkansas Asst. Atty. Gen. Don Langston, who went to Washington to defend the state's 1926 law, was pressed by the high court justices for a justification of the law.

An Arkansas teacher can be fired and fined up to $500 for teaching Charles Darwin's theory that man descended from the apes.

Of course, he said with a smile, teachers could get around the problem and make sure children find out about evolution by telling them reading the chapter on evolution in their biology books is illegal.

Justice Hugo L. Black added the sobering note that "there's evidently no danger of conviction 'since no one has ever been convicted under the law in Ar-

Raps Crank for Prison Criticism

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — A member of the state Board of Correction said Wednesday that he saw no connection between the use of guns to quell a prison rebellion or to compel inmates to obey instructions and the use of the strap as a device of punishment.

Dr. W. Peyton Kolb told a Little Rock civic club that what he wanted to make clear was that incidents had been controlled by the use of guns in the past.

"I am not saying by that that I'm justifying what happened Monday," he said. "But every institution keeps guns. They are kept there for control. This was the reason behind it. Whether it was justified or not, we don't know. It has happened in the past."

Kolb was referring to the wounding of 23 Cummins Prison Farm inmates Monday, who were shot with birdshot by prison guards.

Kolb also said that Democratic gubernatorial nominee Marion H. Crank left out important facts in criticizing Rekansas.

The laughs began when Langston explained that the case preceded the current attorney general, Brennan wondered if he was backing away from a defense.

The young prosecutor assured the court he wasn't — only to run into Justice Abe Fortas' jesting suggestion: "It may not be too late, you know."

The justices and the attorneys eschewed the fierce passions that inflamed the best known court test of Darwinism: the 1925 "Monkey Trial" in Dayton, Tenn., in which John T. Scopes was convicted of teaching evolution.

William Jennings Bryan, defeated three times as candidate for president, was lionized and idolized by fundamentalists as he asserted the literal truth of Genesis. Public sentiment as strongly against Stokes and Clarence Darrow, a prominent defense attorney and champion of liberal causes.

Scopes eventually gave up teaching to become a geologist. He now lives in retirement in Shreveport, La.

Thursday, October 17, 1968
publican handling of prison trouble.

Crank had suggested that the Republican administration had opposed use of the strap on prison inmates but had seen its employees use shotguns on them. Without naming Crank, Kolb said, "Some people are forgetting one particular situation. And in order to remind me it would be necessary for me to call the New York Times, get a shovel and go out to the levee and start digging."

"I think I can demonstrate that the strap and the gun were used before and it wasn't birdshot. It was .30-06," he said. "When a person says 'Well, that bunch did away with the strap and now they're using a gun,' it's purely political ammunition," Kolb said.

Computer Turns on Canadian Teens

By NOEL GROVE
NEA Staff Correspondent

HALIFAX, Nova Scotia—(NEA)—Marching bravely into the unknown, Graham Fernley, 15, Calvin Piggott, 15, and John Bullam, 14, all of Halifax, entered the world of zork, clatter and skretch. They came out not only wiser, but happier as well.

The two ninth-graders and one eighth-grader shot craps against a computer (Calvin had mythical winnings of $2,000 piled up before he blew it all on a final roll), fidgeted through a lecture on the glories of Educational Video Reproduction, and then blew their minds on Datacom. The latter is a computerized keyboard setup that briefs students on a subject, quizzes them, and even issues little typed-out congratulations when they do well.

Their opinions were unsolicited and unheard among the educational prophets and soothsayers who had met here for three days of the first International Conference on Communications Media in Education. There is, after all, a certain inevitability about tomorrow's computerized classroom and television lecture. However, some people raise the question as to whether the new wizardry isn't becoming the giant toy of today's past-oriented educators, played against a backdrop of tomorrow's eager young citizenry.

Psychologists and social commentators are already exploring the effects of home television on the first generation to grow up having always been exposed to its influence.

As for computers themselves, a rather frightening tale was told privately at the conference by a Canadian telephone company representative. Some women operators, he said, had developed nervous symptoms after finding themselves talking back to computerized voices that they knew perfectly well were recordings.

In the educational world, such warnings are mostly lost in the blissful clatter of automated keyboards, the skretch of remote blackboard receivers, the zork of a touch-tone dial-a-computer system that can work mathematics for the impatient student in a matter of seconds.

The three teen-agers entered with gusto into the arena of electronic wizardry displayed at the educational media conference. They operated the Datacom system so long and so religiously that by late afternoon Calvin was giving impromptu demonstrations to passersby in the temporary absence of salesmen of the Maritime Telephone Company. Datacom is designed to be operated over telephone lines.

But even he had some reservations.

You say you'd like a few suggestions on how to get more out of your telephone service?

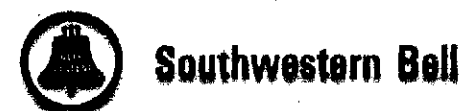

Here are five tips to help make your every "hello" a real good buy:

1. Whenever you're moving to another town within the Bell System, let us arrange for your phone service before you move. If you know the address of your new home, we can make arrangements in advance so you'll have the exact service you want in your new home. We'll also refer calls from your old phone to your new number if you like. Just call the business office and ask about our Easy Move Plan. There's no extra charge.
2. Speaking of moving, we hope you realize that wherever you move in the Bell System, there is no color charge for the phones at your new address if you had color phones at your old address.
3. Ever wonder what to do when you get a wrong number on a Long Distance call? Just hang up, dial "0" for "Operator," and tell her what happened. She'll see that you're not charged for the call.

4. And if you ever lose your dime in an out-of-order pay telephone, just go to a working phone and report it to the Operator. She'll arrange to have your dime mailed to you. Also, if you give her the number of the out-of-order phone, we'll get it fixed right away.

5. Long Distance Interstate rates are lower all day Saturday and Sunday, and after 7 p.m. each weekday. You can also save money if you call by number. A station-to-station Long Distance call costs about one-third less than a person-to-person call.

At Southwestern Bell, our goal is to help you get the very best telephone service. We want your every "hello" to be a real good buy.

Show Biz Backers Do Their Things

By DICK KLEINER
West Coast Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD — (NEA)—At a southern California political rally, Jimmy Durante introduced the Democratic presidential candidate as "Herbert H. Humphrey." It was a typical -Duranteism, and Hubert Humphrey didn't mind.

In fact, like both of the major party candidates this election year, he was overjoyed to have Durante there, no matter how the comedian mangled his name. Today, as never before in American political history, celebrities are an important weapon in the campaign arsenal.

They serve three purposes. The most direct is the fact that a big star endorses a particular candidate may, in itself, move a voter to support that candidate.

"There are some stars," says a Democratic spokesman who prefers to remain anonymous, "who have an enormous hold on the affections of the public. James Brown, for example. He appeared with Humphrey in Watts. They call him Soul Brother No. 1, and they have an enormous degree of respect for him. I'm sure he got us votes."

The second chief use of celebrities is to bring out the public to rallies. The feeling is that people might not come to hear the candidates but may show up to see the movie stars.

"We feel," says John Curtin of the Celebrities for Nixon-Agnew Committee, "that the people will vote for Nixon—if they hear what he has to say. And the stars get them out."

The well-organized Republican team has 10 groups of advance men who go into cities where the GOP candidate has a speech scheduled, a week before that date. They contact the Celebrities Committee, requesting certain types of stars to appear with Nixon.

"They tell us," Curtin says, "what they need—country stars, singers, comedians, whatever. They also tell us what type of county is involved—we work harder if it is a normally Democratic county."

A third, celebrities have a big value in getting an audience into a receptive mood. Curtin says Nixon has told him that it is much easier to talk to an audience after the entertainers have pepped them up a little.

So prior to most speeches of both candidates, there is a noted MC and a troupe of entertainers. Naturally, both parties strive to get the big-off," he said, thoughtfully, "it could have some disadvantages. Learning like this would be all right for brains, but how about the guy who has trouble? Would the computer stop and find out why?"

That, argue the innovators, is where the teacher steps in. Graham pondered why it seemed easier to learn things using a computer and, with all the seriousness of an educational researcher decided, "When a teacher is just standing up there telling you something, it can put you to sleep. But when you have to push the buttons yourself to learn it with a computer, you have to stay on your toes."

"Yes," admitted John, loser to a machine that day in a fast-multiplication contest, "it would be great to have a school with these gadgets in it."

For Graham, the greatest triumph of the day came in his own session with Datacom. He had started by pecking out a timorous "hello" on the keyboard to activate the computer, which paused as though sizing him up before clattering out a response. It then proceeded to type out a short lecture on the science of combustion and gave him a quiz on the material presented.

Graham grew bolder, more mischievous as the relationship progressed, but the machine took it in stride. "You're putting me on," it chided him once as he punched out an answer that was clearly illogical. As usual, it was right.

Purcell Moves Against Crime

BATESVILLE, Ark. (AP) — Atty. Gen. Joe Purcell said Tuesday he has been moving to combat crime in Arkansas since he took office in 1967.

"I don't believe the people of Arkansas will tolerate organized crime in this state and I intend to do everything I can to keep it out," Purcell said. Purcell said he had sent a staff member to Washington and Philadelphia to study anti-crime programs in those cities.

gest and best names they can. The Nixon committee was formed last March, long before the Republican convention nominated him. Cards were sent out to every member of the Screen Actors' Guild, asking for help in appearing at rallies, in making radio and television spots, in lending their names.

Early in the campaign, a large cocktail party was held here. This was an effort to counter the feeling that the stars' careers might be hurt if they actively campaigned. At the cocktail party, major Hollywood producers—Sam Goldwyn, Jack Warner, Roy Disney, Darryl Zanuck, among others—tried to convince the stars that they could campaign for Nixon without possibly endangering future jobs.

This feeling is much less now than in previous years. It has become accepted that politics and performing can mix—witness Shirley MacLaine and Paul Newman, who were both delegates to the Democratic convention.

There is still, however, some fear on the part of performers.

"Some television sponsors," says the Democratic spokesman, "have a policy against their stars campaigning." "Our biggest problem," Curtin says, "is with television stars who are afraid of what the sponsor might say. The sponsor is afraid that the image might hurt his product."

For instance, Bonanza's Lorne Greene has indicated he will vote for Nixon, but will not campaign actively. Dan Blocker, however, continues to campaign on the Democratic side.

The use of celebrities in political campaigns is not new, but since the election of two ex-actors—California's Sen. George Murphy and Gov. Ronald Reagan—the major parties have come to recognize that stardom is just as potent at the ballot box as at the box office.

"The experience of a decade ago is obsolete," the Democratic spokesman says. "Today, not only does the entertainment industry take its politics seriously, but the people on the political side respect the actors' views, too. There is a certain credibility when someone like Alan King speaks on politics that even politicians envy."

The campaign to line up stars continues. The parties sneer at each other's lists—the Democrats accuse the Republicans of cornering the market on cowboys (and, indeed, with John Wayne, Chuck Connors, James Drury, Dale Robertson, Clint Eastwood and Fess Parker, they seem to have done just that) while the Republicans say that the Democrats have nothing but comedians.

"We want young stars," the GOP's Curtin says. "Nixon has repeatedly asked for young people, because he wants to appeal to the younger voter."

They have lined up Burt Ward (Batman's Robin) and Dakari's Cheryl Miller and Family Affair's Kathy Garver. Maybe not the biggest, but young.

The Democrats have a head start, because an estimated 60 per cent of actors are, by inclination, Democrats.

A little touch of smear campaigning has crept into this phase of the race. The Democrats have hinted that the Republicans are paying their entertainers.

"The vice-president," says the Democratic spokesman, "does not pay a cent. I wonder if the other side can say the same thing."

The other side does. (Newspaper Enterprise Assn.)

DOCTOR'S MAILBAG

Three Fungi May Cause Ringworm Infections

By WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M.D.

Q—Please describe ringworm, its cause and cure. Would a person who has lock-strap itch infect the bedding and spread it to others?

A—Ringworm infections may be caused by three fungi—trichophyton, microsporum and epidermophyton. On the feet (athlete's foot) they cause itching and cracking between the toes and itching blisters on the exposed surfaces. The victim may also get small itching blisters on his hands. These blisters do not contain any of the fungus cells but only toxins produced by them and circulated by the blood.

In the groin, ringworm causes patches of redness with itching. On the scalp, it causes patches of itching and scaling with broken-off stumps of hair, but not baldness.

Treatment is difficult and failure to clear up the infection is often due to failure to identify the causative organism. What will cure one type of ringworm will not always cure another.

Since it is possible for the disease to be spread through contaminated towels and bedding, these should be boiled.

Q—Would taking powdered brewer's yeast cause a fungus infection anywhere in the body? Is it of any nutritional value?

A—Although brewer's yeast is a fungus, it will not cause any of the fungus diseases. It is a rich source of vitamin B.

Q—Is there any way to treat ringworm of the scalp without shaving the head?

A—Yes, griseofulvin may be given by mouth and iodochlorhydroxyquin (Vioform) hydrocortisone ointment may be applied every morning and washed out with an antidandruff shampoo every night.

Q—I have been taking Fulvicin for about two years for a skin rash. It has helped me but will it have any harmful side effects?

A—This drug, griseofulvin, may cause headache, dryness of the mouth, heartburn, abdominal cramps, chest pains, dizziness, mental confusion and other alarming symptoms if the dosage is not carefully adjusted.

Q—My son has had a fungus infection on his hands for two years. Nothing seems to help him. Is there any cure?

A—Cure is not easy but, if the diagnosis is confirmed by microscopic identification of the fungus involved, one of the newer fungicides may cure your son.

Please send your questions and comments to Wayne G. Brandstadt, M.D., in care of this paper. While Dr. Brandstadt cannot answer individual letters, he will answer letters of general interest in future columns.

WORLD ALMANAC FACTS

The Anti-Masonic party, America's first "third party," was also the first party to hold a presidential nominating convention and the first to announce a platform. On Sept. 26, 1831, The World Almanac says, the anti-Masons nominated William Wirt for president and a mason, Ellmaker for vice-president. Formed in New York in 1828, the party declined after the elections of 1836.

Hope B Team Downs Prescott 26 to 6 There Monday Night

The above pictures are scenes from the action-packed game between the Hope Bobcat reserves and the Prescott Curly Wolves. Although the score sounds like a runaway, the Prescott boys were in the game all the way to the closing seconds. Hope took advantage of the breaks and a long punt return for the high score.

Coach Jim Jordan silenced any doubts in the mind of the players concerning the backfield and the line — he switched the boys, allowing the linemen to be running backs and the backs to become linemen. Hope is wearing the dark uniforms.

HELEN HELP US!

by Helen Bottel

WHERE THERE'S SMOKE, a little smile and said, "There
THERE ARE DREAMS
Dear Helen: My girl friend and I are talking marriage. We are both 21. I thought everything was fine, until I saw a man's picture in her wallet. At first she said he was the brother of a friend, but when I said, "Let's tear him up if he doesn't mean anything to you," she began to cry.
Then she told me he died of an overdose of narcotics eleven months ago. They had been engaged before he got hooked. She didn't say whether she'd ever taken the stuff.
This is what jars me, Helen:
She insists she can talk to him,
and even see him once in a while.
She says he asked her if she loved me better than him, and when she answered "Yes," he said, "If you ever change your mind you can make it with me again."
When I asked her how, she gave

Friends gave me lovely things at my three showers — expensive cookware, and things for our home. Jeremy insists I take them back to the stores and trade them in for cash, telling the clerks they are "duplicates." He says we don't need "junk" because we'll be travelling around. He doesn't want to be tied down by "material things."
He's all for a big wedding so we'll get lots of "loot," but again he expects to convert it to money. In fact he wants me to hint around we'd rather have checks.
I always knew he had a thing about not settling down at first, but I thought he'd get over it. I want a home and babies, after a year or two of looking for the right spot to light.
Are we so far apart we'd never really get together? — MARIE Dear Marie: You know! When a travelling man and a born nester marry, someone's got to give, and that person will be resentful all her life, or until divorce do them part. You'll note
I said "her." Aman as grasping as you fiance appears wouldn't give an inch, not even if it was a wedding present! —

H.
Dear Helen: All the kids use
"bitchin'" as a slang word meaning "out of sight," or great. My mother says it is uncouth! Why?
— UN-OBSCENE
Dear Un: ... Because it's a "shock word" unless used by a veterinarian or dog breeder.
When you analyze this, it seems kind of silly, doesn't it? Some of my best friends are female dogs.

TUCKER PRISON FARM, Ark. (AP)—Nine-year-old Georgia Pavlidaki may already have a Christmas present.

That is, if a $50 check from her "foster parents," the inmates of Tucker Prison Farm, has cleared the red tape yet and reached her at her home on the island of Crete.

The inmates adopted the Greek girl eight to 10 months ago under the Foster Parent Plan, raising about $180 initially for her support. They decided several weeks ago to send the Christmas present.

Georgia's father was killed in an automobile accident about a year ago and she lives with her mother and two brothers, one 15 and the other 11.

Tucker Supt. Don Bassett said the mother earns 84 cents a day as a farm hand. Georgia receives about $8 a month of the inmates' $180 from the Foster Parent Plan.

Bassett said that he guessed that when the money runs out, the inmates will hold another fund-raising drive.

"This is strictly a project of the inmates," Bassett said. "The prison staff had nothing to do with it. But naturally we think it's fine."

Bassett said that one of the leaders in the drive to raise the money was James Dean Walker, who is serving a life sentence for the slaying of a North Little Rock policeman. About 75 per cent of the 275 to 300 inmates contributed, Bassett said.

The inmates have a complete history of their "adopted daughter" and a picture of Georgia is posted on the prison bulletin board.

The inmates have written her and she writes back, Bassett said.

They have told her they work on a farm and describe the work they do, such as picking and chopping cotton. The letters are signed "Tucker inmates."

Bassett said Georgia writes that she would like to see the inmates, thanks them and tells about herself.

The letters are translated by the Foster Parent Plan in New York, he said.

"This gives them something else to think about," Bassett said. "All they have is time and if they have other matters, other worries—if you want to call it that—and desires, they're better off."

Cunningham's Wife Grew Up in Conway

CONWAY, Ark. (AP)—Mrs. Le Ella Irby Cunningham, wife of one of the Apollo 7 astronauts, spent her childhood in Conway.

Mrs. Cunningham's aunt, Mrs. B. H. Hawk of Conway, said O. Ella, the wife of astronaut Walter Cunningham, was born at Conway. She was the daughter of the late Oliver W. "Bug" Irby and Mrs. Nellie Moore Ugart of Norwalk, Calif.

Irby died in 1937 after being injured in an accident. Le Ella was about 8 years old when the family moved to California following the father's death, Mrs. Hawk said.

The Cunninghams have been married 18 years and have a son, Brian, 8, and a daughter, Kimberly, 5.

Weather Will Automatically Slow Bombing

By FRED S. HOFFMAN
AP Military Writer
WASHINGTON (AP)—Bad weather has cut bombing sorties over North Vietnam 30 per cent since midsummer and even without an ordered halt the level should drop over the next six months.

This could be a major factor in the thinking of top U.S. officials weighing the risks of a total halt at this time.

U.S. fighter bombers since last March 31 have been restricted to strikes within the long, narrow panhandle of North Vietnam stretching from the 19th parallel to the demilitarized zone separating North and South Vietnam.

Pentagon figures show that the number of sorties rose from 7,200 in April to 9,700 in May, 10,300 in June and a good-weather peak of 14,300 in July.

Since then, the trend has been downward to 12,900 in August and 10,500 in September.

A sortie is one flight by one airplane.

The northeast monsoon, bringing rain and overcast, set in about mid-September and will be the dominant weather feature over North Vietnam, including the panhandle, until mid-April.

U.S. military officials oppose any unconditional bombing halt. At the very least, they want North Vietnam to agree to truly demilitarize the six-mile-wide demilitarized zone and to refrain from shelling U.S. and South Vietnamese positions with artillery emplaced north of the DMZ.

Military officers point out that a total bombing halt is only one of five basic conditions which North Vietnam has demanded to bring about meaningful peace negotiations.

The others include:

—U.S. pullout from the DMZ and commitment to stop firing artillery at North Vietnamese positions above the DMZ.

—A halt to all naval shelling, such as bombardment carried out by the 16-inch guns of the battleship New Jersey.

—Termination of American aerial reconnaissance over North Vietnam.

—No more U.S. leaflet drops and other acts of psychological warfare.

A big question in the minds of American military men is how long U.S. civilian authorities might take after the start of a bombing halt to decide whether or not North Vietnam is taking advantage of it.

Of primary concern is the possibility that U.S. and South Vietnamese positions and bases below the DMZ might be at the mercy of surprise enemy shelling.

They fear also that a total bombing halt would give the enemy the unmolested opportunity to build up supply dumps, protect artillery positions and fortification, and prepare for a thrust along the ground into the south.

Neither side has said anything about halting U.S. bombing of sections of the enemy supply and manpower infiltration routes running through Laos. These Laotian road networks connect with the North Vietnamese routes and, in turn, feed into South Vietnam.

Thus, presumably, the United States would be free to concentrate bombing strikes against the Laotian segments of the infiltration channels.

This conceivably could neutralize the effect of freeing the road networks in Vietnam of U.S. air attack.

One likely gain from a total bombing halt probably would involve reduced losses of U.S. aircraft.

Only 92 American planes have been downed over North Vietnam since the bombing was restricted to the panhandle 6½ months ago.

Total U.S. aircraft losses over North Vietnam since summer of 1964 stands at 906.

Heavy Rain

A rainfall of 10 to 15 inches should be expected during the passage of a fully developed cyclone over coastal regions, although 42 inches of rain once fell within 24 hours at Baguio in the Philippines in 1911, according to the Encyclopaedia Britannica.

The shortest distance between two points is a straight line but it may not be the best way to go from one to the other.

The Blackwood Convention represents a straight line in bidding. You can learn how many aces your partner holds before going to the small slam. You can check for kings later to see about the grand slam.

South took this straight line approach. He found that his side held all the aces. Next he learned it held all the kings. Then he suddenly did not know what to do. Should he settle for six no-trump? Should he go all the way to seven no-trump? Should he try for seven clubs?

He finally decided to go whole hog. After all, he could count 11 ace, king and club tricks plus a probably 12th for the queen of hearts. Maybe his partner could provide an extra queen or jack. Anyway it looked like a good gamble and South took it.

When he looked over dummy and the opening lead, he saw that he had gone wrong. The queen of hearts was useless because his partner only held two cards in that suit. There was no play for seven and since the game was match point duplicate South decided to try to go down only one trick, to salvage something from the wreck. He ducked the spade lead and won the spade continuation with his ace. Two hearts and five clubs were cashed with the last club squeezing West out of either his spade or diamond guard so that South was down one trick as planned.

It turned out to be quite a salvage job. No one had failed to reach some slam. Several were down one at six; a few down two at seven.

White Space Has Its Points; Ernest Valachovic

It's considered sound practice in advertising to allow for white space — the fact being that white space makes your type message more effective. But a lot of people in high places still haven't gotten the word.

They get up a competent ad, it is true; then violate the white-space rule when designing a comparatively simple thing such as a self-addressed return envelope.

One of the most irritating practices is to send out an envelope with an imprint in the upper right-hand corner reading "Place stamp here," or, most irritating of all, "Place first-class postage here."

In the first place, anyone with the price of a postage stamp knows where to put it.

In the second place, many business houses don't use stamps at all, but run their mail through a meter which substitutes an imprint for a stamp. The printed legend already on the envelope blocks out the meter, of course, and an angry office worker has to stop and make an imprint on tape and then paste the tape over the offending type block in the envelope's upper right-hand corner.

A year or two ago I wrote a letter to Southwestern Bell Telephone Co. district headquarters at Hot Springs enclosing an editorial which pointed out that their return-envelope was a chronic offender. I received an acknowledgment and a promise that they would clean up the envelope in due course — but it hasn't been done as yet.

You have the same situation on return-envelopes from the Internal Revenue Service in Washington and the State Revenue Department in Little Rock. The IRS case is particularly aggravating because the IRS is in the same governmental family with the Post Office Department. The PO department licenses Pitney-Bowes, Inc., to distribute the postage meter — only to have a brother bureau, IRS, make the meter nearly unusable.

Being a persistent cuss, your editor is forwarding tear-sheets of this piece to all parties involved: Southwestern Bell, IRS, State Revenue Department, and Pitney-Bowes, Inc. If you bark loud and long enough someone will finally look you up in the dog-house.

Arkansas Gazette lost a top-notch reporter and Arkansas an all-around newspaperman Tuesday in the death of Ernest Valachovic, 50. I knew and admired him, and was shocked when news of his heart attack reached me. "Val" started his newspaper career with J. Q. Mahaffey, long-time editor of Texarkana Gazette, after getting out of service in World War II. He was outstanding from the start, later moving to the Arkansas Gazette and acquiring a state-wide acquaintance with office-holders, politicians, newsmen, and everyone else figuring in the graphic arts world.

He was an engaging person with a lively interest. But I did not know, until this morning's Gazette told me, that he was the son of a Czechoslovakian restaurant owner in New York City — and that once before the war he spent two years in the Czech country visiting an uncle's family.

One of the charming things about "Val" was his thoughtfulness. I know from personal experience how he acquired so many friends. Back in 1958 he was covering a state-wide telecast I made against increasing the sales tax to 3 per cent; it was a troubled moment for me, bucking the entire state machine — but Ernest Valachovic took time out from a busy evening to give me a friendly word personally. And win, lose, or draw in a public battle, that's something you never forget about a fellow man.

Astronauts on Back Side of Flight

By HOWARD BENEDICT
AP Aerospace Writer
SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — Anxious to come home, the Apollo 7 astronauts sped through the second half of their orbital journey today, testing the many complex systems of their smooth-running spaceship.

Navy Capt. Walter M. Schirra Jr., Air Force Maj. Donn F. Eisele and civilian Walter Cunningham scheduled another live telecast of the daily Wally, Walt and Donn show.

The rest of the day is devoted to exercising over and over the many systems of the 15-ton craft which has more than two million functional parts.

Although the flight has been near-perfect for six days, the spacemen have been suffering from pesky colds. Cunningham indicated Wednesday night he wished the final day would hurry. He said: "I'd like to figure how we could make that big clock count down faster."

This was shortly after he was told the mission had more than 132 hours to go.

Two hours later, Apollo 7 zipped at 17,500 miles an hour past the halfway point of the planned 11-day flight. There was no fanfare, but when told later that the milestone had been passed, Schirra commented: "We're over the hill halfway, anyway, and that's a good sign."

Eisele was informed about it after awakening from a long sleep period and said: "Yeah, that's great."

Flight Director Glynn Lunney said Apollo 7 has performed so well that the National Aeronautics and Space Administration is firming plans to send Apollo 8 around the moon late in December.

The control center kept aye on Hurricane Gladys, but the storm was expected to be well away from the main recovery area near Bermuda next Tuesday when Apollo 7 plans to land.

Schirra said all three crew members still had varying forms of colds.

"Mine is still a head cold," he said, adding that he wasn't taking any more medication.

Cunningham said, "My ears are getting more difficult to clear than they have been. I feel good otherwise."

Eisele said they did not know whether they had a fever because their thermometer was broken.

The protocol office at the Manned Spacecraft Center reported that it is receiving about 2,000 letters a day from all over the world concerning the flight.

A spokesman said it was too early to tell how many were the result of the Wally, Walt and Donn show sign that read: "Keep those cards and letters coming in, folks."

The new statistical link between disease and men's and women's habits showed that the death rate from stroke was "considerably higher" among those who usually slept 9 or 10 hours a night than for those who usually slept 7 hours a night.

For coronary heart disease, the death rate was "generally higher" for those with the same sleeping habits.

The report by Dr. E. Cuyler Hammond, epidemiologist and statistician for the American Cancer Society, was given today at Albany, N.Y., Medical College and made available in New York.

Voting Record Shows HHH, Nixon Farthest Apart on Spending

By JACK BELL
AP Political Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate voting records of Richard M. Nixon and Hubert H. Humphrey show them closest on foreign and military policy and farthest apart on spending.

Nixon, the Republican presidential contender, and Humphrey the Democratic nominee, have laid out their differences in campaign papers and speeches. But these primarily represent promises.

But any comparison of actual performance, as nailed down in their own voting records, has to stretch back to 1952 when both were members of the Senate and were faced with decisions on the same issues.

This was the year of President Harry S. Truman's bitter fight with Congress, which ended with his domestic program in shambles. Almost without exception, Humphrey supported Truman and Nixon opposed him.

When the Senate killed Truman's veto of the controversial McCarran-Walter Immigration bill, Humphrey voted to uphold the President and Nixon to override.

Nixon and Humphrey stood together in opposing foreign aid cuts. But Nixon voted to restrict the cost of the Point Four program and Humphrey against it. They differed over other policies in this field.

Nixon supported and Humphrey opposed an amendment barring foreign aid assistance to countries exporting war materials.

Nixon Is Waging a Radio Blitz

By WALTER R. MEARS
Associated Press Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Republican Richard M. Nixon is waging a radio blitz — 10 nights of talk on the issues of 1968 — after coming as close as he ever will to a debate with Democrat Hubert H. Humphrey.

And that wasn't very close. The Republican presidential nominee and his Democratic rival shared a platform and made separate speeches Wednesday night at the Alfred E. Smith Memorial Dinner. It was largely an evening of political banter.

Nixon pledged today that he would as president act to deal with rising steel imports which he said are injuring the domestic industry. He said every million tons of new steel imports represents a loss of almost 8,000 job opportunities at a time when steelworkers are being laid off for lack of business.

While Nixon was at the dinner his radio barrage began with a recorded 15-minute speech promising leadership that would "bridge and help to close the gap between the generations."

Tonight, Nixon programmed another recorded, nationwide speech on his plan for an all-volunteer Army. "After Vietnam, I believe we should move toward improving the pay and other benefits of the armed forces and making military service entirely voluntary," he said.

Nixon devoted his leadoff speech to youth, saying young Americans have been overpowered, overpatronized, overprotected — and promising to do something about it.

"By its neglect, by its insensitivity, by its arrogance, our present leadership has caused an unprecedented chasm to develop in our society," Nixon said. "This is a yawning gulf of irritated boredom between the two halves of our people."

Nixon said he does not have all the answers, but "we are listening to young people, gathering all the questions."

And he told the young: "You will be part of the new leadership."

Hurricane Threat Is Fading

By BEN FUNK
Associated Press Writer
MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Hurricane Gladys, killer of at least one person in a stormy crossing of Cuba, began veering toward the northwest in the Gulf of Mexico today and her threat to the million-plus population area of Tampa Bay weakened.

A hurricane hunter pilot detected the change in course as he thrust his plane into the eye of the storm 180 miles southwest of Tampa and 200 miles west of Miami.

If the new course is maintained, forecasters said, the threat to the Gulf Coast cities of Tampa, St. Petersburg, Bradenton, Sarasota and Clearwater would "lessen considerably."

Cuba's National Weather Service, giving no details, said one person died as Gladys dealt the island a one-two punch of wind and rain that heavily damaged crops and property and drove 4,000 Cubans from flooded and undermined homes.

Late-blooming Gladys, meanest of the 1968 tropical storms, was being nudged slightly westward by developing high pressure zone east of Florida. This kept her a little farther out in the Gulf than the forecast track.

Her highest winds of 90 miles an hour were confined to a small area near the center, but during the night Gladys hurled 65 m.p.h. wind gusts clear across Florida into sleeping Miami Beach. Palm fronds littered the streets and lights went out in scattered regions of power failure.

The Florida Keys escaped serious damage. At Key West, winds blew steadily at 50 m.p.h. through the night.

Squall lines filled with husky thunderstorms fanned out over 200 miles from the storm center. But forecasters said Gladys was about as big and intense as she was going to get.

Florida's citrus belt, with 129 million boxes of fruit hanging from the trees, apparently was not in great danger.

Schools were ordered closed throughout the Florida Keys and in the Tampa to Fort Myers area. Personnel at the U.S. Strike Command headquarters at MacDill Air Force Base in Tampa were told to stay at home.

Temperatures to Remain Cooler

Thundershowers and showers over Arkansas are expected to clear up tonight but temperatures are expected to remain cool through Friday.

A cold front that blanketed the state with rain is continuing to move eastward and is expected to be over Tennessee and Mississippi tonight, leaving behind partly cloudy to clear skies.

All points in Arkansas recorded rain in the 24-hour period that ended at 7:30 a.m. today with precipitation ranging from 0.11 inches in Little Rock to 0.78 in Fayetteville.

Low temperatures reported around the state this morning ranged from 48 degrees at Fayetteville to 68 at Blytheville.

Highs Wednesday afternoon ranged from 78 degrees at Harrison to 88 at Fort Smith.

Antique Show at Washington Oct. 26-27

The 5th annual Antique Show will be held October 26-27 at historic Washington, Arkansas.

The show will offer all the opportunity to study rare items of arts and craft of past generations and many dealers will have such items displayed.

The program begins in the Old Tavern and guided tours by members of the Pioneer Washington Foundation will be given to historic sights. At noon a snack bar and cold drinks will offer refreshments and for those who bring basket lunches tables will be provided.

Assurance From Hanoi Could Bring Halt to Bombing in Vietnam

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
AP Special Correspondent
WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson apparently has run into difficulties in both Hanoi and Saigon in his efforts to arrange final terms for an end to the U.S. bombing of North Vietnam.

Before ordering a bombing halt, U.S. officials said, Johnson is determined to receive North Vietnamese assurances his action will move forward the deadlocked Paris peace talks and freeze the level of combat in South Vietnam.

There still has been no word here of those assurances.

South Vietnamese leaders are reported meanwhile to have refused to sign a joint declaration proposed by the United States on halting the bombing.

President Nguyen Van Thieu is said to have several objections, among them that there should be no end to the bombing of the North unless Hanoi gives firm guarantees it will not escalate the war.

U.S. Ambassador Ellsworth Bunker, who met with Thieu three times Wednesday, met again with the South Vietnamese president today, presumably in an effort to iron out the difficulties.

Johnson administration leaders generally sought to keep bombing-halt negotiations secret. But information available in official quarters here is focused on the problems with North Vietnam.

Officials said privately they must know in advance what would happen in the field if the United States ended the bombing.

Johnson is believed seeking assurances from Hanoi that the lull in the fighting, the decline in troop infiltrations from the North to the South and the withdrawal of economy units from around South Vietnamese cities would not be reversed following an end of the bombing.

South Vietnamese leaders appear to be reversing following an end of the bombing.

American Casualty List Drops

SAIGON (AP) — The number of Americans killed in action in Vietnam last week was the lowest in eight weeks, the U.S. Command announced today. South Vietnamese and enemy casualties also dropped, reflecting the current lull in ground action.

The weekly casualty report said 177 Americans died in combat during the seven-day period ending at midnight Saturday.

This was the lowest number of Americans killed since 159 died in the week ending Aug. 17, 1968. The week ending Oct. 5, 1968, 190 Americans were killed in action.

The U.S. Command also reported that 1,278 Americans were wounded last week, with 659 requiring hospitalization. A week earlier, 1,326 were wounded.

South Vietnamese headquarters reported that 176 government troops were killed last week, 690 were wounded and 14 were missing. In the previous week the totals were 322 killed, 1,065 wounded and 25 missing.

A total of 1,527 of the enemy were reported killed last week, a sharp drop from the 2,115 reported for the week before. But the latter figure was an upward revision from 1,654 reported last Thursday.

The weekly report raised to 28,825 the number of Americans killed in the Vietnam war since Jan. 1, 1961. In that period 180,829 Americans have been wounded in action, and 1,206 have been listed as missing or captured.

The U.S. Command said enemy dead total 406,278 from Jan. 1, 1961, through last Saturday.

Peace Report Fails to Halt Bombs

By GEORGE ESPER
Associated Press Writer
SAIGON (AP) — American fighter-bombers kept up their attacks on North Vietnam's southern panhandle today and more raids were scheduled for Friday amid recurring reports that the United States is considering a complete halt in the bombing of the North.

U.S. Air Force and Navy warplanes continued attacking trucks, supply boats, highways, bridges and other lines of communication below the 19th parallel bombing boundary set by President Johnson last spring.

In raids over the North Wednesday, Air Force and Navy pilots flew through northeast monsoon rains and overcast skies to smash more than 30 enemy supply boats and trucks, military spokesmen said.

Reports of an American proposal to end all air attacks on North Vietnam circulated Wednesday after U.S. Ambassador Ellsworth Bunker met twice with South Vietnamese President Nguyen Van Thieu, presumably to sound Thieu out.

The U.S. Mission refused to comment on the talks, but a spokesman said Bunker had another meeting with Thieu scheduled today.

Reports from Washington said President Johnson is awaiting assurances from Hanoi that a halt to the bombing will result in prompt new Communist steps toward peace.

Continuation of the lull in the ground war added to speculation that Hanoi may be de-escalating as part of a secret agreement in the works, an agreement that would include a bombing halt.

For the second successive day, the U.S. Command did not report a single ground action in its morning communiqué.

The South Vietnamese military command reported heavy fighting on the eastern end of the demilitarized zone, but it was not initiated by the North Vietnamese. A spokesman said 400 government troops backed by armored personnel carriers advanced into the southern half of the DMZ Wednesday and killed 75 North Vietnamese soldiers.

The reduction in ground action was emphasized today by the weekly casualty report, which said U.S., South Vietnamese and enemy casualties last week all were less than the week before and the number of Americans killed in action was the lowest in eight weeks.

The U.S. Command reported 177 Americans and 1,527 Viet Cong and North Vietnamese killed last week and 1,278 Americans wounded, while South Vietnamese headquarters said 176 government troops were killed. The week before the totals were 190 Americans, 322 South Vietnamese and 2,115 enemy killed and 1,326 Americans wounded.

EL PASO, Tex. (AP) — George C. Wallace, starting a campaign swing into the Southern and Border states that form his electoral strength, continued to meet the jeers of noisy hecklers Wednesday night.

About 200 detractors nearly drowned out his speech to a rally of at least 5,000 persons in El Paso. Several fist fights broke out between pro- and anti-Wallace spectators.

He appeared Wednesday night to again lose some of the good humor which has marked his dealings with hecklers. "You're just a bunch of punk!" he shouted to the screaming young people pressed against a rope barrier 20 yards in front of him.

It appeared he ended his speech more quickly than usual with a line he uses commonly, but rarely as a finale: "You are archaisms have your way now, because after now, the party's through in this country."
